

Confidentiality and Non-disclosure Notice

1. Confidentiality and Non-disclosure Notice:

- This Notice governs the use of M&A Tech Group's website by the Customer, involving the receipt of services, including Confidential Information, through M&A Tech Group's website or other related platforms, subject to M&A Tech Group's Terms and Conditions. The Disclosing Party is M&A Tech Group, and both entities are collectively referred to as the "Parties."

2. Nondisclosure and Non-Use of Confidential Information:

2.1

- The Customer is obligated to maintain the confidentiality of its own information and prevent unauthorized use, disclosure, publication, or dissemination. Confidential Information may be disclosed to superior authorities, affiliates, representatives, and advisers, provided they agree to be equally responsible. The Parties shall be held liable for any breaches by these entities.

- The purpose of disclosing information is to enable the Customer to evaluate and provide feedback on specific Confidential Information for potential business cooperation or strategic transactions. The Customer must not use the Confidential Information for purposes other than those explicitly disclosed, unless written permission is granted by the Disclosing Party.

- The Customer may disclose information if required by judicial or state authorities, with an obligation to notify the Disclosing Party and provide reasonable opportunities to appeal such requests.

2.2

- The Customer must not disclose Confidential Information or negotiation-related data without prior written permission from the Disclosing Party. Directors, employees, and authorized representatives accessing Confidential Information must be instructed to maintain confidentiality.

- The Customer may disclose information if an external adviser recommends disclosure to avoid legal violations, with prior notification to the Disclosing Party.

3. Proprietary Rights:

- All Confidential Information remains the exclusive property of the Disclosing Party. This Notice does not confer any rights or benefits regarding the Confidential Information.

4. Disclosure of Confidential Information:

- The Disclosing Party assures its authorization to disclose Confidential Information. Information is provided without guarantees regarding accuracy, reliability, or alignment with the Agreement's Purpose.

5. Return of Confidential Information and Documentation:

- The Customer must promptly return all material Confidential Information, including computer programs, documents, records, plans, drawings, and copies thereof, upon receiving written notice from the Disclosing Party.

- The Customer may retain copies for dispute resolution purposes in a restricted-access legal department.

6. Final Provisions:

6.1

- Invalid or incomplete provisions do not affect the overall validity. Such provisions are considered replaced by valid ones aligned with their economic intent.

6.2

- This Notice and the legal relationship between the Parties are governed exclusively by the laws of the United Kingdom.

6.3

- The Notice may be terminated by either party with a 60-day prior written notice (email is sufficient). The Disclosing Party reserves the right to terminate or suspend the Notice and the Customer's use of the M&A Tech Group's platform for receiving Confidential Information in case of any breaches of the provisions.